

FAR-OUT FEMS!

Anyone can travel on ships or planes. These two send each other into outer space, where they've got their own moons, rose-topped peaks, deep, bushy canyons—and nobody comes there but them!

Kingsize Kicks

Two girls can squeeze a lot of joy into a few free hours, handling things they're attached to with warmth and mutual admiration. When they get busted up with keeping abreast of each other's affectionate embraces, they can always take a crack at something else.

Play-Girls

When girls don't want to go out, they can always come inside with another playmate who's willing to get into it with them

NURSING THE NYMPH

When a babe's got the bug, her best girlfriend can go over her inch by inch to see where it hurts—or where it feels extra good. Where it burns, she can lick it; where it aches, she can kiss it, and her finger'll make it come out okay

PUSS 'N' BOOTS

Boots got her nickname because her boyfriends are lumberjacks and she loves climbing their poles. Puss derives her name from her love of cats. Now they're roommates, and a great team. Puss wishes she had a pole for Boots to climb, and Boots has really learned to love pussies.

BIGGERY BANNED

The Minnesota Senate recently rejected an attempt to repeal the state's sodomy law for consenting adults. The legislation, in its original form, was trying to legalize homosexuality, adultery and bestiality, as well as sodomy. Better stick with the "instantaneous position," if you live in Minnesota!

LESBIAN MAMA

An extremely lesbian mother in California recently won legal custody of her children from her ex-husband and her grandparents. Since the kids had repeatedly run away from foster homes to be with their gay mama, the court decided to let them have their way.

EAST LATS

A recent national survey shows that divorcees are generally pushovers for sex. They say that a divorcee in her twenties or early thirties has her guard down, feels rejected by her ex-husband, and she is in desperate need for attention. Plus, going to bed with an attractive guy proves to both herself and her former hubby that she can still attract a man.

DYNAMIC DUO

One of the hottest singing groups on the pop-music scene today is a pair of groovy girls (Jade and Sapphire) who openly admit to being gay. They became lovin'—the first lesbian relationship for each of them—while performing with a jazz-rock band in Boston. Now they have gone out on their own, dubbed "The Lesbian Duo," and sing sexy love songs to each other in front of cheering audiences.

TOBACCO IS A TURN-OFF

Smoking can diminish your sex drive, according to a recent news report. Scientists have just completed a study showing that smoking causes chemical changes in the blood and the sex hormones. Men over forty were most seriously affected.

ORGASM MEANS MORE

In one of the most botched rulings of the year, an Ohio judge took a lesbian's children away from her, saying, "Orgasm means more to them [children] than children or anything else." Well, at least it's nice to know they're not fags.

SEX STORE

Near the world-famous Chinese Theatre in Hollywood is one of the sexiest shops in the world. Called the "International Love Boutique and Sex Museum," it boasts one of the largest collections of sexual paraphernalia in the country. Dildos, masturbation machines, charity belts and whips (for the S/M crowd) are only a few of the thousands of items offered at this sexy super-market. No sleazy clammering when you do your shopping here, either—it's a brightly lit, carefully designed store that looks a bit like an expensive gift shop. And it's run by two gorgeous sisters who look more like Aven ladies than peddlers of porn.

GAY COUNCILWOMAN

32-year-old Kathy Kerasiello has become the first admitted lesbian to be elected to public office in the state of Michigan. The gay activist, who's now a member of the Ann Arbor City Council, says that many women mistook her campaign efforts for attempts to select

WHAT'S UP, DOC?

One of the most controversial exhibits at the recent convention of the American Psychiatric Association in Anaheim, California, was a display called "Women Loving Women." The exhibit consisted of two photo essays which graphically depicted lesbian life. Sponsored by the National Gay Task Force, the booth drew a crowd of over 13,000 psychiatrists and their fascinated families.

I JUDY TAKE YOU SALLY

Legal, same-sex marriages may soon be allowed in Vermont. The attorney general's office there said that the law prohibiting same-sex marriages may be unconstitutional. But then, who really wants to get married, anyway?

GAY LICENSE PLATES

California recently gave in and issued a personalized license plate which reads, "GAY LIB." They figured that since gay sex is now legal in that state, the liberation movement must be OK, too.

BETTER LIE TO UNCLE SAM

Barbara and Debbie, two lovers who work for the Army Security Agency, were naive enough to deal with WAC officials about their amorous activities. Their reward for honesty? Dishonorable discharge! Even though they'd rather make love than war, they are still fighting to keep their jobs.

NOT BANNED IN BOSTON

Boston media have named Elvira Noble (first openly lesbian woman to be elected to a legislative office) the "star" of the Massachusetts House of Representatives. And she not only is stealing the limelight from her straight, male co-ops, but she is doing such a good job that she has earned the respect of every other local politician—in spite of her homosexual preferences.

ASEXUAL LESBIAN?

The Lesbian Feminist Laboratories have raised guidelines for the media, telling them just how gay girls are to be portrayed. Among the requirements is the stipulation that "lesbians should not be defined as solely asexual beings." Seems kind of silly, because what else besides sex makes them lesbians?

New Mexico recently joined nine other states in legislating all sex acts between consenting adults as private. Sodomy and oral sex are among the commonly prosecuted but formerly illegal activities that have been okayed. Now the girls can get their kicks in with a clear conscience.

EROTIC EDUCATION

The bulk of the protest against sex education in California comes from middle-aged women, according to a recent survey. The real surprise, uncovered by the poll, is that the women are not really against sex education. It's just that they don't want today's young people to enjoy the erotic pleasures that they were denied while they were growing up.

CLASSIFIED DESIRE

The want-ads gave these roomies ideas for new games. For "Auto Repairs" they gave each other lube jobs. "Carpentry" got them into tongue-and-groove jobs on their bodies, while "Home Appliances" reminded one to heat up their ovens. Their dreams were flowing freely when they got to "Plumbing" but they plunged on ahead, and by the time they reached "Wages" they had run clean out of loads.
